Leigh Wagner
An Art teacher with 30yrs experience, Leigh also has an Art and Design practice. One realm of her diverse practice involves using Photoshop as a means of manipulating and building complex images. During her teaching upgrade in 1990 she studied many computing units and became an early proponent of computers in the Art classroom. Currently, at St Peters Lutheran College, Leigh trains senior Art students at her school in the use of Photoshop as a tool for Contemporary Image Making. As a teacher of yr 9 and 10 Art and Graphic Design students, she utilises vector packages (Illustrator and Freehand) as well as Stop Motion Animation (iStopMotion) in the classroom. Leigh regularly trains Faculty at her school in computer applications as part of her Leading Teacher 2 duties.
